Las Vegas, May 19, 2009: The World Mystery Convention named the nominees for best mysteries of the year. Included in the list of nominees for best critical non-fiction was Anthony Boucher: A Biobibliography by author Jeffrey Marks. The convention (known as Bouchercon in honor of the subject of this biography) meets in October and awards the Anthonies for the best in crime fiction. Among the nominees for Best Critical Non-Fiction was Anthony Boucher: A Biobibliography by Jeffrey Marks. Marks' biography of Anthony Boucher, a tireless advocate for the mystery genre through his own books, radio plays, translations, and reviews, took four years of research to complete. For the last two decades of his life, Boucher had been the primary mystery reviewer for The New York Times. Despite his place in the genre, Boucher had never received a full-length biography.

This is the third Anthony nomination for Marks. In 2002, Marks received his first nomination for Who Was That Lady?, his biography of Craig Rice. In 2004, he was nominated for Intent to Sell: Marketing the Genre Novel. The award will be announced in mid-October in Indianapolis, IN.

Marks received the Helm Fellow from Indiana University for his work on the biography of mystery writer and reviewer, Anthony Boucher. He won a citation from the Ohioana Library Association in 2004. His work has been nominated for an Edgar, Agatha, Macavity, Maxwell award (from the DWAA) and Anthony awards from the World Mystery Convention. He writes from his home in Cincinnati, Ohio.
